Course Description
This course is offered for students who can demonstrate a diverse use of vocabulary, a solid understanding of grammar patterns, and clear pronunciation. The aim of the course is (1) to advance students’ communication capabilities in reading and writing at both casual and academic levels, and (2) to improve student’s verbal communication skills in order to participate effectively in conversations on a variety of topics in formal and informal settings, (3) to use the issues that the program looks at as tools to understand other ways of life while staying in various communities. Course materials are taken from current literature sources, newspapers, and current articles on focus issues. The course content is divided into two parts. The first part, students will be expected to advance in verbal and written communication skills and be able to summarize the main ideas of the passages or dialogues they listen to or read, and comment about them. For the second part, students will learn about specific topics in accordance with the issues examined in the core course.

Learning Objectives
• Students will master enough of the target language to be able to understand and make basic requests, to describe, in basic terms, places, people, events, and their needs and feelings, and to meet their daily needs and interact with locals on a daily basis.
• Students will learn culturally important expressions and use them in them appropriate contexts. Students will demonstrate their willingness, confidence, and skill in engaging actively and independently in the host culture by initiating conversations in the target language with staff, fellow students and locals on a regular basis.
• Students will be able to demonstrate via pre- and post-testing based on ACTFL guidelines that they have improved at least two ACTFL sublevels in their ability to describe, narrate, evaluate, and persuade on familiar topics (i.e. demonstrate increased fluency, accuracy, and appropriate use of language).

In order to determine how well students demonstrate competency in learning Thai on this program, students will have an oral proficiency test based on the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages (ACTFL) guidelines twice during the semester. The aim of this assessment is to help students reflect on their progress in Thai and know their language proficiency level in the event of further Thai study.

Students will take a pre- and post-program test.
The format of testing will be a 20-30 minute response to visual prompts and simulated situations. The test will allow the students enough time to complete the task without intervention. The student’s performance will be compared to the criteria outlined in the ACTFL Proficiency Guidelines 2012 – Speaking as well as the Interagency Language Roundtable (ILR) scale. The comparison of ACTFL and ILR proficiency scales are:
