Programs offering course:	Business and culture/Language and Culture

U.S. Semester Credits:	3

Term:	Spring 2020

Course Description

This course presents an overview on the process of European economic integration, both from an economical and from a political point of view. Special emphasis is placed on the different EU policies that have been developed over the years, and how they affect the national economies, with France as a central case study. The course will also address the EU governance and its various institutions, as well as the successive enlargements of the EU and how the entry of less advanced economies has affected more advanced economies, like the French one. It will finally give some examples of EU achievements but also analyze some of its current's threats and challenges.

Learning Objectives

By the end of the course, students should have a good understanding of the historical steps leading to today's European Union and the main economic challenges. They will be able to understand the extent to which the EU constitutes an asset and/or an obstacle to economic, political and cultural development.

Course Prerequisites

Soft review prior to the course of your previous lectures in macro-economics, business management and political science (if any). But don't feel too bad if you haven't yet touched these subjects.

Methods of Instruction

Instruction will be supported by regular readings (see list below) that will feed in class discussions. Readings are assigned to help students gain familiarity with key ideas and terms, which they will then be expected to integrate into their oral and written work (including a midterm and a final exam). The course will be illustrated with several case studies of European-wide companies and a few visits of local European sites.

Assessment and Final Grade

1. Midterm group presentation:	20%
2. Set of 2 quizzes	10%
3. Set of 2 quizzes	10%
4. Final group presentation:	30%
5. Class participation:	30%

Course Requirements

Group Presentations (mid-term and final):

In small groups of 2 or 3, students will present case studies about European economic, political or cultural policies that have changed and affected French society. The presentation should last about 15-20 minutes and introduce the time and context in which these European policies were implemented as well as the challenges they raised.

One group presentation will be made regarding the first part of the course about economic and business aspects of European integration. The other group presentation will be made regarding the second part of the course, on political and legal aspects of European integration. These presentations will be scheduled throughout the semester and dates will be set at the start of the course.

Each student will have to make two group presentations overall.

Set of 2x2 quizzes: these will be online and during class reviewing previous themes and class discussion. They are 5-question multiple-choice quizzes that will also support the students' review of class material.

Attendance

Regular class attendance is required throughout the program. Students must notify Center Director and instructor beforehand if they will miss class for any reason. Students are responsible for any materials covered in class in their absence. Students who miss class for medical reasons must inform the instructor and the Center Director and provide appropriate documentation. An absence in a CIEE course will only be considered excused if:

- a doctor's note is provided
- a CIEE staff member verifies that the student was too ill to attend class
- evidence is provided of a family emergency

Attendance policies also apply to any required co-curricular class excursion or event. Students who miss class for personal travel will be marked as absent and unexcused. No make-up or re-sit opportunity will be provided.

Persistent absenteeism (students exceeding 10% of total course hours missed, or violations of the attendance policies in more than one class) will lead to a written warning from the Center Director, notification to the student's home school, and/or dismissal from the program in addition to reduction in class grade(s). Students with unexcused absences exceeding 20% of the total course hours will fail the course.

- Late papers will be marked down 5% after the first day and 1% every day afterwards
- Being late is disruptive to the entire class and will negatively affect a student's participation grade. Being 10 minutes late just once is still disruptive but can happen to all. Being late more than once, however, will have consequences for the student's participation grade.

Students arriving more than ten minutes late to the class will be considered absent for the session.
