Course Description

This 4-credit Chinese language course is designed for beginning-level language learner. This course enables students to practice speaking skills on presenting detailed information by expending student's basic knowledge of Chinese language and by leading students to have topic-orientated practices of oral and Chinese writing skills. The students will be able to understand and deliver short conversations or written text about their study-abroad daily life, including the weather, actions and events, living habits, personal evaluation, sending invitation, and future plan. This course will help student to acquire the language skills to life on campus and meet non-English speaking friends in Beijing.

Learning Objectives

By completing this course, students will be able to:

- Respond to direct questions, and have conversations of sharing detailed information and building up social connections with Chinese with vocabularies, phrases, or complete sentences learnt from class, or sometime phrases or sentences creatively organized by their own, topics related to personal preference, objects, actions, some immediate requests and future plan
- Understand most of or sometime all information in a clearly instructional or informational speaking text related to daily life without speakers' repetition
- Read short sentences of personal preference, social topics, or other narrative written text
- Write sentences to describe one's daily routine or a normal event, and also can write short letters, and other functional writing
- Detect and avoid making mistakes on cultural rules in conversations with local Chinese
- Master approximate 1000 words and about 120 grammar structures

Course Prerequisites

This course is designed for the beginner level Chinese learners, who have had two college semesters of Chinese or at least is at the Novice-Mid level according to ACTFL Proficiency Guidelines.

Methods of Instruction

The leading methods applied in this course is Communicative Language Teaching, embedding students into real-life and meaningful conversations, and using the learning materials updated with student's daily life. The teaching approaches and activities is designed to promote teacher-student interaction in order to lead the students have real communication in Chinese. Most of the class hours are organized to have students speaking and listening with the help of on-line multimedia courseware, pictures, videos. Different types of stimulus are carefully arranged into class to meet needs of different learning styles. Assignments after class is facilitated as writing practices. Other teaching methods are utilized based on learning objectives, such as audiolingual methods applied at the first stage of structure practice, TPR used for learning certain vocabularies.

The 4 meetings per week is slip into two parts: two times of 100 minutes group class and one 40-minute tutoring/discussion/presentation.

The 100 minutes group class is mainly focus on content of textbook, including vocabularies and grammar structures. Students are expected to learn by the guidance given by instructor and to have topic and structure controlled language practice. Correct out-put is highlighted in the 4 hours meeting.

The 40 minutes tutoring/discussion/presentation offers opportunity of “free speech”, talking about topics students interested in, correcting pronunciation, or solving questions students met during the week study. Though students are encouraging to express freely, instructor will mark down any error/mistake during the conversation and give feedbacks to students in the end of the meeting.

Assessment and Final Grade

List at least four methods of assessment in addition to participation, indicating the percent of final grade below totaling 100%. Do not assign a percent to class attendance.

| | | |
|----|-----------------------|-----|
| 1. | Homework: | 15% |
| 2. | Participation: | 20% |
| 3. | Tutoring performance: | 15% |
| 4. | Mid-term examination: | 25% |
| 5. | Final examination: | 25% |

Course Requirements

Homework

Homework, which is assigned daily, includes finishing the workbook or prepare a short oral presentation. Students should spend approximate one and half hours to two hours on homework and previewing. Homework is accepted up to three days after deadline and 0.3 percentage point off for each day. Missing a homework will lead to 1 percent off final grades.

Participation

Participation is worth 20% of final grade. Fully attendance and actively involving activities and communications in class ensure a 20% grade. Being late or absent, eating, messaging, calling, or other disrespectful behaviors to instructors or classmates leads to loss points.

Attendance is an important part of participation :

- Each unexcused absence from class will lead to one percentage point reduction.

- Exceeding 6 hours (10% of total course hours) unexcused absence may lead to a written warning from Beijing Director, a notification to student's home school, and/or dismissal from program in addition to the grade reduction.
- Unexcused absence exceeding 12 hours may lead to a fail in this course.
- Over 15 minutes late or early leaving is taken as an unexcused absence.
- An absence will only be considered excused if:
 - a doctor's note is provided
 - a CIEE staff member verifies that the student was too ill to attend class
 - evidence if provided of a family emergency
- Excused absence exceeding three times will lead to one percentage point reduction for each one, unless a doctor's note on being hospitalized is provided.

Tutoring Performance

Tutoring on Friday is 15% of final grade. Students are expected to bring topics or questions to instructor. In this free conversation, making errors will not make students lose grade point but no or poor preparation before the meeting will. The instructor evaluates students' performance according to their contribution to the conversation and willingness of using vocabularies and structures learnt in the week.

Mid-term and Final Exams

Mid-term exam is on the eighth week and final exam is on the fifteenth week. Both of the exams consist of a listening and speaking exam, 15% of final grade, and a reading and writing exam, 10% of final grade.

The listening and speaking exam requests students to finish 2 conversations with the teacher and 2 independent presentations in 45 minutes. Student will be given topics ahead of the exam for preparation. Students are expected to collect information from teacher, to share information precisely, and to address personal viewpoint properly with correct pronunciation and tones, phrases and sentences, and communication strategies.

The reading and writing exam request student to complete writing tasks based on reading 2 written texts, and to complete a functional/paragraph writing based on a given topic in 1 hour. Exam time length can be accommodated for special needs. Students are expected to understand information or ideas in the text, and to write readable characters in the right form and coherently sentences with right grammar structure.
