Course Description

The Language and Culture Practicum (LP Class) is a constantly evolving course that combines many different teaching and learning formats to cover various topics ranging from test-taking help to bargaining with vendors in Chinese. Through this specialized curriculum, students will be given a solid foundation about Chinese culture and daily life and how to apply it to the world around them.

Learning Objectives

The main goal of this course is to allow students to understand various Chinese societal and cultural elements through certain practicums and open assignments. At the same time, students will learn how to adapt and how to live in a Chinese environment (especially Beijing) while strengthening their spirit for exploration.

Course Prerequisites

At least two semesters of college-level Chinese (or equivalent)

Methods of Instruction

This class consists of one 90-minute session per week, starting in September to December. One Language and Culture Practicum teacher (LP teacher in short) and two/three students will work together to engage students more in Chinese language usage and cultural exploration. All eight sessions will cover various topics in the form of presentations, debates, engaging in dialogues, mini research projects with all presentations presented in Chinese. Students will complete three cultural activities. Students may also propose other research ideas that look at other aspects not covered, or research a topic more in-depth than was covered in the course. All of the activities and topics are closely related to student's daily life and CIEE activities, and will help and encourage students to gain a better understanding of Chinese daily life, culture and people. Over the semester, there will also be group sessions (Chinese table, Dumpling Making etc.) to supplement the eight-week classes.

Assessment and Final Grade

List at least four methods of assessment in addition to participation, indicating the percent of final grade below totaling 100%. Do not assign a percent to class attendance.

1. Three Assignments: 45%

- 2. Class Participation: 40%
- 3. Oral Presentations: 15%

Course Requirements

Three Assignments 45%

There is no final exam for this course, but each assignment will be graded and recorded as part of the final grades.

The first assignment will be self-introduction in Chinese. The other three research topics will be focused on different activities outside of the classroom. PPT, pictures, oral presentations, essays, class debate are all welcomed.

For elementary level students:

- written text no less than 200 words
- usage of both narrative and descriptive text

For intermediate level students:

- written text no less than 300 words
- usage narrative/descriptive and argumentations with support ideas

For advanced level students:

- written report based on an interview no less than 500 words
- usage narrative/descriptive and arguments supported by detailed facts and data

Class Participation 40%

It is expected that students will not be absent unless there is a pressing reason which should be communicated to the instructor. Being punctual, including returning from breaks on time shows respect to your classmates and instructor. As per CIEE academic policy the instructor must deduct points: you will lose 2% for every unexcused absence and 1% every time you are late. This course requires a careful level of preparation, regular attendance and active participation by each student.

Oral Presentations 15%

Oral presentations will be held in the first 10-15 minutes of each in-class session.

Each student can have 2-4 minutes to fully deliver his or her ideas and positions on targeted topic. Good articulation and clear ideas are very essential to get a high grade of this part.
