Course Prerequisites

This course is intended for students who have had some exposure to the Spanish language. Students need to have a GPA of at least 2.9. Students' language level, as evidenced by their result on the Online Language Placement Test, will determine their participation in this or other Intensive Session Language course.

Methods of Instruction

Each unit will work with texts about real and conventional communicative acts that provide a representation of the life of Spanish society by studying and practicing all of its contents; pragmatism, communication, function, vocabulary, and grammar. The student will develop oral communication skills through activities which express their own identity and will have the opportunity to perform, in Spanish, in various communicative contexts. Grammatical problems will be addressed by offering practical material that focuses on morphosyntactic and lexical-semantic features, but always related to the contents communicative, functional, pragmatic, and socio-cultural meaning. Students will produce written assignments motivated by their own learning process while associating with different functions and resources of the Spanish language. Students will study and practice specific linguistic structures (morphological, syntactic and lexical) and pragmatic and socio-cultural norms that are applied to use the Spanish language appropriately. The activities will help the student communicate properly in situations aiming to meet his or her personal needs as a student who intends to establish his or her first Spanish social network, working with elements that generate difficulties for American students (added to unfamiliarity with the language code) in developing their communication skills. These activities will give students the chance to select significant linguistic options that the Spanish language offers in order to carry out a pragmatically correct and socially accepted interaction with Spaniards in different communicative situations. In addition to classes, students will participate in a cultural activity in which they will be able to practice in a real setting the grammatical content, lexicon, communication vocabulary, pragmatics and social-cultural topics studied and practiced in class.

Attendance Policy and Class Participation

Students are not allowed to miss class for unjustified reasons. For each unexcused absence, the participation portion of the grade will be lowered. Hence, it will be very difficult to receive a 100 in the class. Please keep this in mind. If a student misses class once without a valid excuse (a note from a physician in the event of an illness), then the professor will automatically lower the final grade by 10 points (on a 100-point scale) for each class missed thereafter. Students with 3 or more absences will fail the course.

Students should arrive to class on-time. Arriving more than 15 minutes late for a class will count as an unexcused absence. Please note that an excused absence is one that is accompanied by a doctor's note: signed stamped and dated. Travelling and/or travel delays are not considered valid reasons for missing class.

* Notes from a physician will only be valid and admitted by the Program Manager if the doctor confirms that the visit could not have been arranged at another time, or that the student was too ill to attend class that day.
