Course Description

After Israel and the USA, Germany is the most important country of migration for Jewish immigrants worldwide. Jewish migration is not just a phenomenon of recent decades, but is also anchored in history. There was a strong Jewish migration from Eastern Europe to Germany as early as the late 19th century. After the Holocaust there were Eastern European displaced persons who founded new Jewish communities in Germany. With the collapse of the Eastern Bloc, Jewish migration from the former Soviet Union fundamentally changed Jewish life in Germany. In recent years there has also been an increase in migration from Israel. This seminar will address Jewish migration as a part of Germany's past and present, explore integration issues from the perspective of Jewish immigrants and the non-Jewish majority, and make relevant comparisons with the current population of refugees in Germany. Co-curricular excursions will involve a visit to Berlin’s famous Jewish Museum, historical walking tours, and visits to contemporary Jewish centers of arts and culture.

Learning Objectives

The learning objectives of this course include:

• To develop an understanding of Jewish migration patterns to Germany in the past and present along with corresponding patterns of integration.
• To learn about the complex network of ethnic, national, religious and other factors that shape Jewish identity and the Jewish experience in Germany.
• To determine what lessons from the Jewish migration and integration experience have relevance for other groups that have migrated to Germany for political, economic or humanitarian reasons.
• To develop critical thinking and analysis skills through oral and written assignments that are designed to help students understand and engage with the course material.

Course Prerequisites

None.

Methods of Instruction
Learning will involve in-class activities, reflection, discussion, readings, films, short lectures, and out-of-class activities that help you engage with the material on a deeper level.

Course Requirements

Writing assignments
Students will write 2 short essays (500-750 words). The essays will require students to critically analyze the readings and offer reflections from site visits, guest speakers, class discussions, excursions, or films. Due dates are indicated in the schedule below.

Group Project
Students will work in small groups to explore an aspect of the Jewish experience in Germany related to the central themes of the course. The project may address a political, cultural, artistic, or religious topic. Each group will prepare a presentation for the rest of the class on their topic. Additional details for this assignment will be discussed in class and posted on Canvas.

Final Exam
The exam will give students a chance to summarize and synthesize what they have learned during this course by answering short discussion questions based on the concepts and materials covered in the class.

Participation
Participation is valued as meaningful contribution in the digital and tangible classroom, utilizing the resources and materials presented to students as part of the course. Meaningful contribution requires students to be prepared in advance of each class session and to have regular attendance. Students must clearly demonstrate they have engaged with the materials as directed, for example, through classroom discussions, online discussion boards, peer-to-peer feedback (after presentations), interaction with guest speakers, and attentiveness on co-curricular and outside-of-classroom activities.

Attendance Policy
Regular class attendance is required throughout the program, and all unexcused absences will result in a lower participation grade for any affected CIEE course. Due to the intensive schedules for Open Campus and Short Term programs, unexcused absences that constitute more than 10% of the total course will result in a written warning.

Students who transfer from one CIEE class to another during the add/drop period will not be considered absent from the first session(s) of their new class, provided they were marked present for the first session(s) of their original class. Otherwise, the absence(s) from the original class carry over to the new class and count against the grade in that class.

For CIEE classes, excessively tardy (over 15 minutes late) students must be marked absent. Attendance policies also apply to any required co-curricular class excursion or event, as well as to Internship, Service Learning, or required field placement. Students who miss class for personal travel, including unforeseen delays that arise as a result of personal travel, will be marked as absent and unexcused. No make-up or re-sit opportunity will be provided.

Attendance policies also apply to any required class excursion, with the exception that some class excursions cannot accommodate any tardiness, and students risk being marked as absent if they fail to be present at the appointed time.

Unexcused absences will lead to the following penalties:
